Post Names Gilbert As Associate Editor

The appointment of Deputy Managing Editor Ben W. Gilbert as associate editor of The Washington Post and member of the editorial page staff was announced yesterday by Publisher Katharine Graham.

Gilbert, 51, has been with the newspaper for more than 27 years, as a reporter of national affairs, as city editor for 19 years, as day managing editor and then as deputy managing editor.

Gilbert is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a graduate of the College of the City of New York and holder of an M.A. from the University of Missouri. He is the author-editor of "Ten Blocks from the White House," a book about the Washington riots of last April.
